R. A. Christmas

The Beginning—improbable.
The End—incomprehensible.
Genesis and Revelation,
like wacky bookends.

In between—life itself;
sanctity and sin, together—
a cracked two-way mirror,
reflecting, well, you.

At the center, this Jesus—
killed, resurrected. Summed in one word: Messiah.

Your job, Reader: Survive
beginnings and endings.
Discover the life you lead—
and the one you must find.
